Action Paves The Way For Adjournment

WASHINGTON (P) —The Senate today passed and sent to the White House a compromise $3 billion foreign aid money bill giving the President authority to guarantee credit for private commodity sales to Communist nations.

The action, paving the way for the adjournment of Congress, came after Republican protests against President Johnson's insistence on interrupting the Senate's brief Christmas holiday to win final passage. They argued the measure could have gone over to the new session opening Jan. 7.

Final passage came with the voice vote adoption of a compromise amendment—previously cleared by the House at its unprecedented early morning session Dec. 24 allowing Johnson to grant credits for commodity sales to the Soviet bloc if he determines it is "in the national interest" and advises Congress within 30 days.

The Senate, earlier, had approved the conference report, which embraced the money items in the bill, by a vote of 46-14.

Otis Harris Bound Over For Trial

Otis Harris, 52-year-old Negro proprietor of the Harris Barbecue at 119 North Broadway, and a waitress at the establishment, Charlotte Brown, 23, 413 West Morgan, were bound over for trial in Circuit Court following a preliminary hearing in Magistrate Court Monday morning before Judge Frank Armstrong.

Harris and his waitress are charged with selling liquor at the northside establishment without a state license.

Both Harris and Miss Brown were released on bonds of $1,000 supplied by the Bradshaw Bonding Company. Previous bonds for the pair had been $2,500 each, Judge Armstrong reduced the amounts to $1,000 at the conclusion of the hearing.

First witness called to testify for the state by Prosecuting Attorney J. R. Fritz was Everette Rutledge, chief clerk of the state department of Liquor Control in Jefferson City. Rutledge testified he was superintendent of the department's books and records and said no state liquor license was in effect for the Harris business on Dec. 15—date of an early morning raid conducted at the place by state liquor control agents, the Pettis County Sheriff's Department and a State Highway Patrol trooper.

George Rose, one of two liquor control agents who visited the Harris place early the morning of Dec. 15, testified that at about 2 a.m. he asked Harris for a half-pint of whiskey.

Rose said Harris replied he

Traffic Fatalities At All Time High For the State

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Missouri's 1963 traffic fatality toll reached the previous all-time high of 1,132 at midnight Sunday. Until now the most deadly year was in 1956.

The year still has two days to go and is certain to exceed the bloody 1956 figure before the counting ends.

Under National Safety Council procedures if a person is injured in an automobile accident in one year and dies of those injuries before July 1 of the following year, his death is added to the toll of the year in which the accident occurred.

So the 1963 fatality record will not be known finally until next July 1.

DRIVER CRITICALLY INJURED — James S. Swafford, 25, 239 Rainbow Drive, remains in critical condition today in St. Mary's Hospital, Kansas City, following the above accident that occurred about 12:20 Sunday morning in front of the Kennie Miller residence in the 1200 block of West Third. Swafford's legs can be seen protruding from the back seat of the car where he was thrown by the impact of collision with a utility pole and a tree on the parkway. (Democrat-Capitol Photo)

Burned Ship To Bottom Of Atlantic

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The burned-out shell of the Greek cruise liner Lakonia sank in 13,200 feet of Atlantic water Sunday as she was being towed toward Gibraltar.

Capt. Trygve Gaasoe of the Norwegian tug Herkules, who was directing the attempt to salvage the hulk, said the ship's starboard list increased Saturday night.

Six men from one of the two Portuguese tugs with the Herkules were put aboard the wreck Sunday morning to close all starboard portholes. The growing list forced them off after four hours.

"Suddenly at 2 p.m. the wreck heeled over to starboard until the decks on that side were awash," Gaasoe reported by ship-to-shore telephone.

"Just as she went down, she rolled back completely so that her decks were pointing straight toward us on her port side," he said.

Gaasoe said the Lakonia sank about 260 miles southwest of Gibraltar.

"It was simply too burnt out to stay afloat," he said. "The charred metal was cooling down after the fire, and this set up a lot of irregular stresses, and the weakened structure probably simply broke up."

Cole Camp Man 'Serious' From Gunshot Wound

The condition of Harvey Viets, 19, of near Cole Camp, accidentally shot while hunting, is reported as serious at the Boone County hospital in Columbia. Viets was hunting rabbits with a .22 caliber rifle when the gun accidentally discharged and the bullet struck him in the chest, according to Dr. John L. Watson, Cole Camp, who rendered emergency treatment.

Dr. Watson reported the accident occurred about two miles east of Cole Camp near Viets family farm home.

He was rushed to Bothwell Hospital in the Fox ambulance from Cole Camp, and X-ray pictures taken here. He was then taken to the hospital in Columbia with Dr. Watson accompanying him.

According to Dr. Watson the bullet entered the left chest passing near the heart and emerged out the back on the left side in the lung area.

The accident occurred about 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

James S. Swafford

Accident Victim's Condition Critical

James Sherman Swafford, 25, 239 Rainbow Drive, was critically injured in a one car accident in the 1200 block of West Third street about 12:20 o'clock Sunday morning. Swafford, a patient at Kansas City's St. Mary's Hospital was still in critical condition today.

The accident occurred, according to police, when the 1956 Buick sedan he was driving went out of control as he made the jog in Third Street at the entranceway to Liberty Park. The car crashed into a combined telephone and electric pole on the parkway in front of the Kenzie Miller residence, snapping the pole at the base. A piece of the pole, about three feet long, broke out and was recovered on the west side of Sneed avenue. The pole also snapped just below the cross bar at the top.

The automobile apparently went into a spin and crashed sideways into a large tree on the parkway, skidding the bark several feet up from the ground. The car swerved around and stopped along side of the curb headed east. The left front side and the left front door were ripped away.

Swafford was tossed into the rear seat and both legs were hanging out of the car at the rear left door when the car came to rest.

The automobile was demolished.

Swafford was taken to the Bothwell Hospital in the Ewing ambulance where Dr. Carl Siegel rendered treatment and remained at his bedside through the night.

The automobile was towed away by the Ray and Gene DX Service Station wrecker.

Swafford was transferred from Bothwell Hospital to St. Mary's in the McLaughlin ambulance. Dr. Siegel accompanied him.

Probe Florida Hotel Fire That Killed 21

Sunday Tragedy Worst In Jacksonville History

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Ashes and blackened debris in the Hotel Roosevelt's once-grand ballroom held the secret today to the cause of a fire which left 21 dead and 66 injured.

Flames burst out Sunday morning in or around the main floor ballroom, spewing heavy smoke and deadly gasses upward through the 12-story, 300-room hotel, packed with nearly 500 Gator Bowl weekend guests.

Successful Meeting With Chancellor

'Full Agreement, Understanding' Reportedly Reached

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) —President Johnson's first venture into the deep water of personal diplomacy was a success, according to German and American informants who had a part in his two-day meeting with West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

If nothing else, the two new leaders in the West's struggle with the East got to know each other and reached "full agreement and understanding."

The phrase is a stock one in the copy book of diplomats. But this time, said Erhard, "it is not a diplomatic statement. It is just the truth."

A communique issued Sunday after their meetings declared that Johnson and Erhard were agreed "that it is highly important to continue to explore all opportunities for the improvement of East-West relations, the easing of tensions, and the enlargement of the prospects of a peace that can be stable because it is just."

This was qualified, though, with a declaration that there "should be no arrangement" that would perpetuate a divided Germany.

Erhard, holding a news conference at Austin's Bergstrom Air Force Base just before his jet transport left for Bonn, emphasized a willingness to explore "new alleys" that might lead to agreements with the Soviet Union.

4 Persons Dead On State Roads

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Four persons died in traffic accidents in Missouri during the weekend.

A St. Louis woman, Mrs. Marlene Kelly, 29, was killed early Sunday in a crash at Rock Hill, a St. Louis suburb. Edward Kelly, 30, Mrs. Kelly's husband, was seriously injured.

Two Perryville, Mo., men died Saturday night in an accident on a county road near Poplar Bluff. The dead are Carl Laws, 19, and Lloyd Weber, 21.

A taxicab driver, 62-year-old Orville Smith of Lemay, died Friday night in St. Louis County.

Eleven persons were killed in accidents in Kansas over the weekend.

Nineteen victims were asphyxiated by smoke and fumes.

Sudden disaster struck on a brisk, calm Sunday morning, handing Jacksonville its worst tragedy in history.

One woman died in a plunge from an upper story window. An assistant fire chief died of a heart attack.

Only the cool efficiency of firemen and dramatic rescues by Navy helicopters of guests who fled to the roof averted a worse tragedy.

The fashionable hotel on Adams Street near Main Street was packed with 472 guests, many here for Gator Bowl week festivities which ended Saturday night.

Most deaths occurred above the eighth floor, agonizingly out of reach of the city's two 100-foot aerial ladder trucks.

Among those rescued were Miss America of 1964, Donna Axum of El Dorado, Ark. The 21-year-old beauty and her chaperone, Lucile Previti, were hospitalized overnight, suffering with smoke inhalation.

Miss Axum, smiling prettily from a hospital bed, said she took with her when she fled in pajamas, slippers and a beaver coat were "two pocketbooks and my crown."

Business executives were among the dead. They included James Jackson Swick, 59, owner-president of Copeland Sausage Co. His wife, Lorena Eaker (Rena) Swick, 47, also was killed.

The Swicks, of Alachua, Fla., had stayed in town after attending the Gator Bowl football game.

Another executive among the dead was Wade Hildinger of Buffalo, N.Y., vice president for sales of National Gypsum Co.

Mayor Hayden Burns, commissioner of the police and fire departments, said city fire marshals inspected the hotel within the past 10 days and found it complied with all fire safety rules.

Load of Beef 'Too Heavy' For Trailer

A freak accident occurred to a large trailer loaded with butchered beef on North Highway 65 near the junction of county highways D and J about 5:40 o'clock Sunday morning. No injuries were involved.

The large GMC tractor, driven by Lawson Minney, 36, of Afton, Okla., was pulling the larger trailer loaded with 404 quarters of beef designated for the state of California from Iowa. The units were headed south and had just passed the junction when the trailer buckled and snapped in two just behind the dolly wheels.

Minney was able to bring the unit to a stop without a wreck occurring. After Trooper Pete Stohr arrived on the scene, they surveyed the mishap and were able to pull the units to the side of the highway on one of the new turnoff shoulders to avoid blocking traffic.

The units are owned by Paul Spence of Springfield, who was notified and dispatched another trailer and tractor to the scene. After the meat had been transferred, relieving the weight from the first trailer, it was possible to get the trailer section together again and it was taken to Springfield empty.

Nazareth Prepares For Pope

75-Minute Stop Planned By Pope On 11-Hour Tour

NAZARETH, Israel (P) — The community in the hills of Galilee where Jesus grew up and worked as a carpenter is busily preparing for the arrival of the man Roman Catholics regard as the vicar of Christ.

According to Christian tradition, it was in Nazareth that the Virgin Mary learned she was to give birth to the Messiah; it was here that Jesus spent a great part of His life before embarking on the road that led to Calvary. It was from here that He descended to the Sea of Galilee and met Simon the Fisherman, whom He named Peter.

Roman Catholics consider Peter their first Pope.

Next Sunday, Pope Paul VI will become the first head of the Roman Catholic Church since Peter to set foot on this soil.

He will find a city in many ways is a microcosm of the segmented Christian Church that he hopes one day to unite and in a larger sense, he will find that Nazareth reflects the many ways in which many peoples have sought God.

Nazareth, situated in the heart of the State of Israel, has an overwhelmingly Arab population. Christians of one persuasion or another—most of whose ancestors were converted hundreds of years ago in the days of the Crusades — comprise about half the city's 28,000 population.

Independence Child Dies From Burns

Sharon Louise Waller, Independence, died at Bothwell Hospital Sunday morning from burns suffered at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McMullin, Route 5, Saturday night.

The seven-months-old child was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Waller, Independence. With her parents, she was visiting with her grandparents, about 17 miles northeast of Sedalia, when her mother went to another farm house for a while. After the mother left the house, Mrs. McMullin said she placed a blanket in the bathtub, and decided it would be a good place for the child to play, and put the child in the improvised play pen.

In a few moments, Mrs. McMullin said she heard the child crying and heard the water running. She investigated and found the child had accidentally turned on the hot water faucet. About that time the mother returned and the parents, along with three uncles, Earl, Wayne

Both vehicles were headed east on Broadway and Miss Witt started to make a right turn on Harrison and the left rear of the car was struck by the right front of the station wagon.

The Ford was driven off under its own power while Ray and Gene's D-X wrecker towed the station wagon away.

Mrs. Fangohr was given a police summons for careless and imprudent driving.

No injuries were reported in a two-car accident at Broadway and Limit avenue at 6:47 o'clock Sunday night, but damage resulted to both vehicles.

Involved was a 1958 Ford sedan driven by Oliver F. Kreisler, 47, Route 2, Lincoln, and a 1963 Pontiac sedan driven by James F. Evans, 29, 2207 First Street Terrace.

According to the police Kreisler was headed north and making a left turn on to Broadway while Evans was headed south across the intersection. The right rear fender and panel on the Ford were damaged and the right front fender on the Pontiac damaged.

Both drivers were issued police summons for careless and imprudent driving.

Two men escaped injuries in a one car accident on North Highway 65 at the top of the Heaths Creek Hill shortly after 2 o'clock Sunday morning. The automobile, a 1955 Ford tudor sedan was extensively damaged.

The car owned and driven by Robert Nelson Lee, 39, Florence, was headed south on the highway and as it went around the curve at the top of the hill, went out of control. The car went off on to the right shoulder, knocked down one highway department sign, and the right rear wheel left the shoulder. Had the car continued to the right it probably would have dropped down into a 20 foot ravine.

As the car went back toward the pavement it went into a skid, crossed the pavement, flipped over once, and landed on its wheels off the highway headed northward.

The car was towed to Sedalia by Shoemaker's Auto Service wrecker.

Lee was accompanied by Larry Green of Sedalia.

Trooper William Southwick and Trooper Pete Stohr of the Highway Patrol investigated the accident.

(Continued from page One) didn't have any, but that later Harris went to a locked room in the establishment and obtained a half-pint of liquor. Rose testified Harris gave the bottle of liquor to Miss Brown, who in turn sold it to him (agent Rose) for $2.

Miss Brown came to him and asked if he was the man who wanted the liquor. Rose testified he replied yes and the transaction was made.

Rose testified that about 45 minutes later he purchased another half-pint of liquor in the establishment.

Rose said Harris was at the cash register in the place counting money in the register when he asked him for the second bottle. Rose stated Harris again went to the padlocked room and returned with a bottle of liquor in his front pants pocket.

As before, Rose said Harris gave the bottle to Miss Brown who in turn handed it to Rose and took the agent's money. Rose testified that he and agent Burch had visited the Harris place on Oct. 27 and Nov. 3 of this year and that on neither occasion did they purchase liquor from Harris directly.

Testimony at the hearing was concluded by Emil W. Sosa, a chemist for the state department of Liquor Control, who stated two half-pint containers of liquor delivered to him for analysis by Agent Rose proved to be alcoholic in content. Sosa testified the contents of the two bottles proved identical following quantitative and qualitative examination and that the liquor in the bottles was 86 proof.

Another liquor agent who participated in the raid, Harold Junge, was sworn as a witness, but was not called to testify.

George Evans, local builder and owner of several Sedalia buildings including the one leased by Steam-O-Matic for a warehouse that burned recently, said today he would rebuild at that site.

Evans said he plans a block structure on the concrete floor that suffered little damage from the fire that destroyed the structure.

The building was not covered by insurance, Evans said, as was previously reported. He said the policy on that particular building had expired about 60 days before the fire occurred.

Re-building plans will be spurred, Evans said, if Steam-O-Matic (Rival Manufacturing Co.) requires warehouse space in the immediate future.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 25-year-old girl who lives at home with my parents.

Last night a very nice fellow I had dated only once before came to the house to pick me up. My father was in the living room so I brought the young man in to introduce him. I think I should tell you, Ann, that my father has a very odd sense of humor and not many people understand him.

The first thing my father said to the fellow was, "What is your zip code number?" The poor guy looked startled and replied, "I don't know."

My dad turned to me and said, "I don't think you ought to go out with a fellow who is too lazy to memorize his zip code number."

I was so humiliated I wanted to die. I hauled the guy out of the house immediately. We had a lousy time because the evening got off to such a poor start. The fellow seemed to go into a shell.

Please tell me what you think about me moving out of the house? A girl I work with has been asking me to share an apartment with her and I could manage it financially with no trouble. — DAUGHTER OF A NUT.

Dear Daughter: A 25-year-old girl who is self-supporting does not need an excuse to move out of her parents' home.

Your dad may have an odd sense of humor, but that gink who "went into his shell" doesn't have much of a sense of humor either.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband never smoked. I was a heavy smoker since the age of 17. Three months ago my husband bet me $100 I could not quit smoking. I took his bet, in the presence of two witnesses. He wrote out the check and I cashed it the next day.

Everything was fine until last week, when my mother telephoned from Montreal. Dad had a severe heart attack and she asked me to get on the next plane.

I was so upset that when the man next to me on the plane offered a cigarette I took it. I have been smoking heavily ever since.

I leave for home tomorrow and I'm going to stop smoking the minute I hit Buffalo. Do I owe my husband $100? Technically I did QUIT. Please advise. —FINE LINE.

Dear Fine: Maybe you did quit technically but you also started smoking again—technically. In my book this means you owe your husband $100.

Return the $100 and ask him to put it back on the line for a second bet. But this time agree on a time limit — like eight months.

Dear Ann Landers: Please wire collect immediately the name of the woman who wrote and said she had E S P and was able to tell in advance what was going to happen.

I will gladly pay her expenses to Chicago and will personally escort her to the Board of Trade. From there we will go to Las Vegas, then on to Monte Carlo. After the traveling I will happily set her up on Park Avenue in New York and buy her a seat on the New York Stock Exchange. —LOOKING AHEAD.

Dear Looking: Sorry, Bub. If the woman could do what you think she can do why would she need you?

Dairying Big Income Source

Dairying is so commonplace in Missouri that few people realize how important it is.

It is the second most important source of farm income in Missouri, and nationally, we rank 11th in pounds of milk produced. There are about 54,000 dairy farms that produce this milk and they realize a total income of $136,000,000. The processed milk and milk products have a total value of $290,000,000. Besides the milk manufacturing and food technology industries, there are many others closely related to the dairy enterprise. Included are the chemical companies, farm equipment companies and feed manufacturing companies. It has been estimated that 34 per cent of the concentrates fed to Missouri dairy cattle are commercially prepared.

The dairy situation at present is fast changing. Total cow numbers have decreased by nearly 25 per cent in the past ten years and the number of dairy farms has decreased recently. Total milk production has changed very little, however. This has been due to a rapid increase in milk production per cow. In 1954, the average production per cow was 4,600 lbs. Last year average production per cow was about 5,500.

In order for dairying to obtain the status it has, a general modernization has taken place in equipment, and management practices. To maintain this status, further modernization is going to be necessary. The equipment required to produce quality Grade A milk is expensive and it has been necessary for the dairymen who plan to stay in the business to increase their volume of milk production by increasing the production per cow or by adding more cows to the herd or both. Others who have not wanted to meet the changes necessary have sold out. This means that the dairymen producing milk in Missouri today devote more of their time and talent to the dairy enterprise. This has resulted in a more efficient production of a higher quality product.

Dairy extension has a challenging role to keep the dairymen informed of ways they can best meet these modernization problems. As new developments come about in management and feeding practices we need to get this information to the dairymen. This we can do through bulletins, and by closer contact through the DHIA, breed organizations and plant fieldmen. Also, by participation in county activities in cooperation with extension agents.

Radiation Sickness

The principal ailment unique to nuclear warfare is radiation sickness. Its severity depends on the amount of radiation to which a person is exposed and on the length of the exposure time. That is because the body can take a certain amount of radiation damage and repair it without serious permanent injury. It is only when one gets too much too fast that sickness or possibly death may result. Radiation sickness is not contagious, regardless of how much exposure the victim has had. It is important to know that many of its symptoms may appear in anyone subjected at any time to anxiety and great stress.

Symptoms or three degrees of radiation sickness will be covered next week.

Replace Hay With Grain in Dairy Ration

Grain cannot totally replace all hay and silage in the ration, but there is an opportunity for dairymen to ration out the roughage so it can be stretched to last as long as possible.

When grain can be purchased for less than two (1.8) times the cost of alfalfa hay it is cheaper to buy grain than to buy hay.

Feed at least six to ten pounds of hay or 25 to 35 pounds of silage per cow per day. The substitution of grain for roughage should be limited to this in order to maintain normal but-terfat test.

Feed according to production. It's the high producing cows that will pay off the higher feed costs usually experienced during a time of hay and silage shortages.

When good legume hay costs 35 dollars a ton, dairymen can afford to pay up to about $62 per ton for ground shelled corn. Presently ground shelled corn is much cheaper than $62 per ton.

Protect Trees and Shrubs From Rabbit Damage

Trees and shrubs can be protected from rabbit damage by spraying or painting them with repellents containing either nicotine, nicotine sulfate, or tetra-methylthiuram disulfide, combined with the necessary carrying agents and stickers. Several chemical companies make these repellents.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has published a leaflet L-396 entitled "Protecting Trees and Shrubs From Rabbit Damage" which explains the preparation and use of repellents. It can be obtained by writing to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D.C.

Self-Feeding Salt and Mineral to Beef Cattle

Salt should be fed to all animals under all conditions. There are conditions where it is mixed with the ration that make this method quite satisfactory. If there is any doubt about not having enough salt in the rations, then it should be self-fed, free-choice. When this is done, it should be made convenient to the animals.

Major minerals necessary for successful livestock production are calcium and phosphorus. Common sources are steamed bonemeal and ground limestone. They can be fed in a complete ration or fed free-choice.

Where legumes make up a portion of the cattle ration, the calcium requirements will probably be met. In this case, free-choice feeding of equal parts bonemeal and salt would suffice as the major mineral supplement. If the animals are eating low-grade non-legumes, then equal parts of salt, bonemeal, and ground limestone might be in order.

Electric Tape To Prevent Pipe Freezing

Electric heating cable provides a very successful and economical way to prevent water pipes from freezing during cold weather.

Many companies manufacture pipe heating cable sets that include the cable, insulation, and thermostats required to keep the pipe temperature high enough. Instructions are given so the cable can be spiraled around the pipe at the appropriate distance for proper protection and maximum efficiency.

Urea and Beef Cattle

The major advantage of feeding urea to cattle is to reduce the cost of the ration.

Urea can be fed to almost any kind of cattle as long as it does not make up more than one-third of the protein, or three per cent of the total ration. However, it does work best in rations that contain high energy, such as a fattening ration for steers in the feedlot.

It should be thoroughly mixed in the ration to prevent what is commonly called "urea poisoning." Caution is needed where there are suspected nitrates either in the feed or water. Urea tends to aggravate this situation.

Turkey Outlook

An increase in the 1964 turkey crop of three to five per cent above 1963 seems likely. Such an increase in turkey supplies would result in slightly lower prices during September to December of 1964. This would be near or slightly lower than the 22½ to 23 cents average for the same period of 1963. Feed costs during the major growing season will be about the same as in 1963.

Increasing marketings of light breed turkeys during the first six months of 1964, added to the storage supply, may depress the

Soil Treatment For Winter, Early Spring

When it comes to crop yields and quality, one of the major factors is the ability of the soil to deliver enough of the right nutrients at the right time.

A number of advantages to winter and early spring use of soil treatments needed to improve the soils ability to deliver adequately when the next crop needs nutrients are:

1. First of all, there is no growing crop to interfere with the spreading operations. Plans for normal spring application of corrective treatments sometimes cannot be carried out because of complications due to soil conditions, weather or pressures of planting. The results may be costly in dollars due to inferior yields and quality because of limited nutrients.

2. Soil conditions are generally good for extended periods in the winter and early spring permitting operation of trucks and other spreading equipment. Most fields are firm. In the spring some fields have spongy, soft and wet spots that slow down spreading. Some areas of a field may be by-passed because of soil conditions and this can adversely affect yields.

3. There is generally less rush with other work and more time to do a better job of soil treatments in the winter. It pays to check adjustments of spreader equipment to assure an even, proper distribution. Custom operators usually have more time to do a better job in the winter than at other seasons.

4. Your fertilizer dealer and lime producer may have more adequate supplies of the treatments you need. Spring demand is sometimes crowded into a short period of time before the planting season.

To maintain or improve a good yield record, most soils need mineral treatments supplied with limestone, phosphate and potash. The interval between corrective applications will vary with different fields, depending upon crop yields and the present state of fertility. Nitrogen in one form or another is needed with every crop.

One of the most useful tools to determine the present fertility situation of your soils and guide you as to the kind and amounts of soil treatments needed, is soil testing. Winter and early spring is a good season to bolster the fertility level of your soils.

price of lightweight turkeys. Heavy toms may command a price higher than last year during the first six months of 1964.

Most Valuable Possession

What is your most valuable possession? Think a minute. Most of us would answer "freedom." Freedom to worship as we choose, freedom of speech, freedom to come and go at will—these are part of the American way of life we cherish. All of us want to strengthen and preserve our freedom—but how?

One way you can help strengthen freedom is by investing in United States Savings Bonds. And when you buy bonds regularly, you protect your own financial future too. Savings Bonds grow fast, you get back four dollars for every three you invest in less than eight years. The interest is guaranteed by Uncle Sam. And remember this, if your bonds are lost — the Treasury replaces them free.

Here's another advantage: you can convert your bonds to cash anytime you want to. Whatever your financial goals, Savings Bonds are one sure way to reach them. Get all the facts about Savings Bonds next time you bank. You'll see why so many of America's farm families buy bonds regularly. Remember: you help keep freedom in your future when you buy Savings Bonds today!

Suspect New Corn Disease In Missouri

University of Missouri scientists from the agricultural experiment station are on the alert for a potentially disastrous new corn disease in the state. In fact, it may already have been found.

The disease is corn stunt, caused by a virus. Some symptoms of the disease were found in three fields in southeast Missouri. Suspect fields were located by Armon J. Keaster, entomologist, stationed at the University Delta Center near Portageville.

Samples from the three fields have been sent to an authority on the disease in New York to learn whether the corn stunt virus was present. Findings are not expected for a month or two, says M. S. Zuber, United States Department of Agriculture corn breeder stationed at Columbia.

Meanwhile, University county extension directors will be briefed on the disease in anticipation of the 1964 growing season.

USDA has announced that the disease, potentially more destructive than any other known disease of corn, is present in areas of Mississippi, Ohio, Louisiana, Kentucky, Indiana, and Illinois. Damage has been known to run as high as 100 per cent.

Plans are now being made to combat the disease. University of Missouri researchers and USDA scientists stationed here will play a part in this cooperative effort involving many federal and state scientists.

Plans to fight corn stunt are aimed at determining the insect that carries the stunt virus from plant to plant and, locating a genetic source of resistance so breeders can develop corn lines that will not be affected by the disease.

Emmett Pinnell, chairman of the field crops department, points out that the appearance of the new disease in the corn belt serves as a good illustration why a vigorous research program on corn must be maintained by both state experiment stations and the USDA. It makes it possible to take immediate research steps to combat new diseases, he says.

It has been suggested that corn may not be the only plant which plays host to corn stunt disease. It is possible that Johnsongrass, abundant in southeast Missouri, may be involved. University researchers say.

Corn stunt, as the name suggests, does not permit corn plants to develop normally, but stunts the growth. Abnormalities appear, such as bunching of upper leaves, barren plants, ear shoots with no silks or silks which emerge long after pollen has been shed.

There presently is no control for the disease, scientists here state. Only research will provide the answers to solve this new plant problem, they add.

Sleeping Machine Device No Ripple to World Opinion

By BOB VOELKER

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Now comes the most devilish device of all. And the Russians are at the bottom of it.

They talked about it not too long ago—right out in the open—and there was hardly a ripple in world opinion.

It's a sleep machine.

What the Russians do is wire this sleep machine to a person—and almost presto—the person doles off and gets the equivalent of a full night's sleep in about two hours.

Countrymen, be warned. Some day this sleep machine will usher in the final attack on humanity.

The day will come when great production lines will be turning out sleep machines like toasters. Everyone will have one. Two hours sleep will become standard.

Then what will happen if a guy dozes off in church? What possible excuse could he have?

And when his wife wants him to do some nasty, little job around the house, he'll never be able to use the old alibi: "I'll do it tomorrow, I'm tired."

Consider the GIs, the millions of bored draftees who pulled the great escape by "sacking out."

The same GIs will be hearing sergeants talk like this:

"Okay men, these barrack lights will be out at midnight and reveille is at 2 a.m. We got a full 22-hour schedule tomorrow."

Think of the school kids. They will be buried under mountains of homework.

Future generations will be hearing things like this:

Bartender: "See that guy on the end of the bar? I couldn't stand him when he was in here only five hours a day. Now he's here 11 hours a day."

Night cop: "Don't these people ever go home?"

Housewife: "George, I have so many club engagements these days I simply must buy some more new clothes."

In the end, society will become sleepless. Sleepiness will be subversive. The warning will be:

"When the knock on the door comes in the middle of the night, you better not be asleep."

Hal Boyle is on vacation.

Do It Now, Think Later

Rep. Richard Bolling, Missouri Democrat, is known as a solid student of Congress and its problems. But he acknowledged recently in an interview that he seldom ever has enough time to think long and hard about this matter that interests him so much.

In fact, says Bolling, the only occasion on which he found time to "think consecutively" about Congress or anything else was a brief period he spent in what amounted to academic seclusion.

His comment really is somewhat stunning. Congress these days is under heavy fire for its inadequacies, though it is a little difficult to separate its historic shortcomings from its more recent ones. Not too many legislators evidently give much thought to the matter. Bolling is one who wants to, but can't carve out the time.

This complaint is not a new one. Many a public figure in this country and around the globe speaks ruefully about the lack of time to think, to apply themselves creatively to the problems before them.

The pace of life today, and the great variety of pressures which play upon us all, make this an "activist" age. Everybody is running around talking to people, doing things, going places.

In the middle and upper echelons of government and business, much of this activity is done in the name of solving great problems. But the experience of at least the last two or three decades suggests we may be just nibbling at them. And the more we dash about, the smaller the nibbles seem to be.

Thirty or 40 years ago social scientists were moaning that scientific invention was far outrunning "social invention," by which they meant the devices and institutions created by men to cope with the things they invented—like the automobile.

In the decades since, the scientific revolution has speeded up fantastically. Some inventions are virtually outmoded before modern society has a real chance to react to them in any organized fashion. The DC-7 aircraft, for instance, had a brief five years of life as the nation's principal commercial passenger carrier—and then came the jets in profusion.

Obviously there never was a time in history when society and its institutions in all major fields of endeavor needed to develop faster reactions to the products of the laboratory and drawing board. Changes are pouring forth with dazzling speed.

Yet this very fact contributes not only to an "activist" mood here and elsewhere in the world. It produces a sense of social disorder, of entrapment in swift-moving events, which further discourages the kind of "consecutive thinking" Bolling wisely sees as vitally necessary to a real assault on great problems.

Maybe the professor's fabled "sabbatical year" ought to be a compulsory thing for every executive, every junior and senior leader in every walk of life where solid, continuing thought on the imaginative, creative, original level is called for.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Squaks Over Johnson's Economy

(Editor's Note: The Washington-Merry-Go-Round today is written by Drew Pearson's associate, Jack Anderson.)

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON—The congressional clamor against closing more military bases, like a French fish market in full cry, hasn't died down a decibel.

The loudest squawks, ironically, are coming from champions of economy who are against federal spending everywhere except in their own backyards.

Some of the bases should have been shut down 100 years ago. But the generals who command them have held off the taxpayers more savagely than they once fought off the Indians who attacked those same forts.

Here are some of the aged bases which Johnson wants to close:

FT. TOTTEN on Long Island, N.Y., was first used as a recruit depot during the revolutionary war. It stood against the Indians and the French, fell once to the British. But not until President Johnson's determined attack on waste were the taxpayers to defeat it.

Most facilities at Ft. Totten, including the gun placements, date back to 1868. The buildings are old, inadequate, costly to maintain, expensive to heat.

THE PORT WASHINGTON, N.Y., Naval Training Device Center is actually located in a medieval castle, its functions scattered among guest houses, stables, and servants quarters. Indeed, some functions are located as far away as Mechanicsburg, Pa., Mineola, N.Y., and Garden City, N.Y.

The castle, though of ancient vintage, was built in more modern times by the late railroad tycoon, George Gould. It is as expensive and impractical to maintain, however, as if it had been built for King Arthur's round table.

Result: President Johnson has ordered the Navy to move out of this museum and consolidate its training device activities at nearby Mitchel Air Force Base.

Whoops of Anguish

FT. SLOCUM, N.Y. — Another military relic in the same area, was finally closed by the late President Kennedy earlier this year. Located on David's Island in Long Island Sound, it may have been ideal for holding off British troops. But in its modern role as an Army school, it was not only obsolete but out of the way. The Army was obliged to operate a full-time ferry to haul 450 military men and civilian workers back and forth.

Yet the idea of closing these ancient fortifications has brought screams of anguish from Long Island congressmen more terrible than any Indian war whoops of the past. Such economizers as Steve Derounian, Frank Becker, John Wylder, and Seymour Halpern, all New York Republicans, seem to think our security will be jeopardized by ATLANTA JOURNAL: Well, Hello, Joe! — A report from Moscow would have us believe that the Russians can now raise the dead. shutting down these defenses against the redcoats and red men. All of the above, incidentally, opposed Johnson in his recent foreign aid fight. He is not likely to help them now.

MOBILE—The President's economy order has also caused dismay in Mobile, whose erstwhile Congressman Frank Boykin is no longer around to fight for federal handouts. He was convicted earlier this year.

Over the objections of Congressman George Grant and other Alabama politicians, who believe economy should begin anywhere but home, the President has ordered the inactivation of Theodore Army Terminal and the Air Force facilities at Bates Field.

The terminal has been maintained to handle ammunition, though the channel isn't deep enough to allow ammunition ships to dock there. It would take frequent and costly dredging to keep the channel open, but safety regulations would prevent the ships from loading or unloading ammunition anyway, because of the civilian construction all around the area.

In other words, the politicians want to keep open an ammunition terminal that is unable to handle any ammunition. As for Bates Field, the Air Force found it was costing 40 per cent more to base a reserve squadron there than elsewhere.

LBJ's Neighborhood

CAMP GARY, south of Austin, Tex., not far from the LBJ ranch, is supposed to be used to train Army pilots in case of emergency. But the air traffic over Austin is so heavy that it has no place for student pilots. As a result, Camp Gary not only has no peacetime mission but couldn't even be used for its wartime mission. Yet Judge Thornberry, before he left Congress recently, was crying to keep the camp open.

IN MISSISSIPPI—The Air Force reported the runways at its Greenville base were cracked, and the subsoil wouldn't support big bombers. Only two permanent buildings exist on the entire base. To put it back in shape for practical use, the Air Force estimated the cost would exceed $8,000,000.

But the Mississippi congressional delegation, who are all for economy outside Mississippi, believe passionately in federal spending at Greenville.

CHICAGO—An even greater expense is maintaining the Fifth Army's headquarters in the former Chicago Beach Hotel. Two-thirds of the space is taken up in hallways, closets, and the like—fine for a hotel but wasted space in an office building.

Yet, until President Johnson stopped it, the Fifth Army was going ahead with plans to take over the adjacent $4,000,000 twin towers apartments in order to house headquarters personnel.

These are some of the extravagant bases which the President wants to curtail.

Congress Is Nervous Over Pay Raise

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility that Congress might vote itself a pay raise next year seems to be growing weaker.

The chance that Congress will require its members to disclose all their financial sources looks even slimmer—slim to point of no chance in sight.

There has been considerable agitation for a pay raise, from $22,500 a year to $32,500. But congressmen are notoriously nervous about raising their pay during an election year, and that's what 1964 is. Also, Congress' job performance this year has been widely criticized.

Already there has been a revival, on a small scale, of the "Bundles for Congress" campaign that infuriated and alarmed a good many of the senators and representatives in the 1940s.

In that satirical campaign, taxpayers sent packages of second-hand clothes to members of Congress who were complaining about how hard up they were and how much they needed a raise.

Last month a bundle of old clothes from the "Senior Citizens of Tioga County, Sabinsville, Pa." arrived at the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, which had approved the pay raise bill.

The donors said they hoped the gift "will help tide you over."

A comparative handful of Congress members have voluntarily made statements of their

Democrat Pick-ups

One day recently a woman heard water running—just lots of water—and her first thought was that some of the pipes had frozen and burst. She went all over the house where there was water, went to the basement and could find no water anywhere. Still the sound of running water could be heard loud and clear.

Her husband had already gone to work but the man next door hadn't, so she called him and asked him to come over.

"I hear water running somewhere," she told him, "but I can't find it."

He could hear it, too, and he went all over the house, and the basement but, although it sounded like the place might be flooding and ready to float away, they simply could not find any trace of water.

She didn't know what to do. At least she wasn't just hearing things, for she felt, for a little while like maybe she was, but her neighbor heard it and there just had to be a reason for it. She wondered if he should call a plumber or what she should do.

"I just don't know what to tell you to do," the man said, as he went to the door and started to leave for work. Then he called to her—"Look here."

She looked—and from the outside faucet on the house the water was pouring. Then she remembered their dog. During the hot days of summer he had learned to turn the faucet on whenever he wanted a drink and she would hear the water running, go out and turn it off.

Questions and Answers With Governor Dalton

Recently, Governor John Dalton agreed to answer several questions put to him concerning the progress made by Missouri during 1963 as well as some of the disappointments encountered.

Following is a rundown on the question-and-answer report with the governor:

Question: In what area did Missouri make the most substantial progress during 1963?

Governor Dalton: In higher education, with the creation of the four-campus state university system, and the improved financial support of all state colleges and to junior colleges.

Question: How does Missouri stand today, as compared to a year ago, in regard to recruiting new industry?

Governor Dalton: We are doing better. The contacts we made last year are beginning to pay off, and a number of Missouri communities have made substantial gains during the year.

Question: Do you feel industrial-hunting tours by you and other state officials are paying dividends? What are the long range aspects of such tours?

Governor Dalton: Yes, these tours are worthwhile. They are conducted on a businesslike basis, emphasizing contacts with expanding firms that have already shown an interest in Missouri, but also discovering new leads. Most of this work will come to harvest after I have left office.

Question: What, do you feel, lies ahead for Missouri during '64 in the area of human rights?

Governor Dalton: I think we shall make continuing progress in human rights during 1964. Missouri never lagged in the area of school integration. The state human rights commission works steadily, quietly and effectively in improving the climate for equal job opportunities. The public accommodations problem is being bettered in many places by voluntary action, on both an individual-proprietor and community-agreement basis, and by municipal ordinance. Happily, we have had few extremists on either side of this question in Missouri, and I am inclined to think the best, the firmest and actually the quickest progress is made at the community level.

Question: What do you consider as being the state's greatest disappointment during 1963? For instance, the defeat of the Educational Television bill.

Governor Dalton: I agree that the defeat of ETV was probably the biggest disappointment during the 1963 session of the legislature. I thought we had a good plan, well presented. We were in position to finance it. It presented the most economical means of enriching the quality and up-to-dateness of classroom experience for every school child in Missouri. Now we have lost valuable time and opportunity that likely can never be fully recovered. I also feel the state lost much by the Legislature's failure to enact a conflict of interest law and the implied consent chemical test law in relation to drunken driving.

Question: Have you definitely decided against calling a special session of the Legislature during 1964? If one were called, what are the issues of primary concern to you and the state in general?

Governor Dalton: Unless some unforeseen circumstance should arise, about which I now know nothing, I shall not call a special session. I think that statement disposes of all the issues mentioned up to now.

Question: Since your four-year term is on its last leg, what is your feeling on the Governor not being able to succeed himself? Do you feel the state eventually will alter the present situation?

Governor Dalton: I do feel that Missouri governors ought to have the privilege of going before the people for re-election to a second term. It is not good for the state to be forced to have a freshman governor every four years, because it is a job that takes too long to learn. I think we need have no fear of the people re-electing bad governors, and the good ones ought to be re-elected for the best and most efficient administration of state affairs.

Question: Do you think the present patronage system evident in our state government will undergo its most severe test this year as is being implied by some newsmen? Should there be changes in this area? Is political patronage a good thing for the state, or merely the politicians?

Governor Dalton: No. The sort of political charges now flying around are par for the course in an election year. The role of state employees in an election is minor. Few people realize that roughly nine out of ten state workers—twelve out of thirteen, if you include college and university people—are employed under some kind of merit system, either bipartisan or non-partisan. The governor does not even have the privilege of appointing the director of some of these departments. The minority of state workers who are "political" usually are divided in their loyalties to opposing candidates in the primaries and are not easily shaped into voting blocs. The unfortunate thing about the merit system is that it can become an easy place for the inefficient, uncooperative worker to "hide." This type of employee knows how difficult it is to discharge him for not doing his work and in some instances becomes skillful at disobedience and disruption. The political worker knows on the other hand, that the axe can fall upon him quickly if he does not do his job. There are arguments pro and con about both types of departmental organization, and I see no pressing need at this time for changing the present structure in Missouri unless it would be to give the department heads more authority to weed out poor workers.

Question: Do you plan to openly endorse any gubernatorial candidate at any time prior to the August primary?

Governor Dalton: Probably not.

Question: You have been mentioned as a possible candidate for Sen. Stuart Symington's senatorial seat in the event the Senator is selected as the Democrats' vice presidential nominee. What is your reaction to this?

Governor Dalton: Interesting, but the situation is unlikely to arise. Senator Symington is a great Missourian and deserving of the highest honors. I support him for re-election.

Variety in a Full House

DEAR POLLY—As the mother of 12 children, I look to the column for short cuts. At my own home, instead of changing all the beds on the same day, each bed is done on a different day of the week. The children know which day they are to strip their own beds. The bedding, plus other clothes of the same color make a load which I find washes better than one in which so many sheets are done at once. It is no longer such a job making up beds.

Choose a certain color in personal grooming tools such as toothbrushes, glasses, combs, brushes, etc., for each child so the kids can help themselves at a younger age. We finally ran out of colors and had to resort to other devices such as different brands or names on things for the older ones who can read.

DEAR POLLY — When my son, 10, was in bed with the flu, he cut recipes from old magazines and newspapers and pasted them, according to categories, on the sheets of paper in a loose-leaf notebook. Rocky's Strategy Unfolds In Oregon Primary Plans

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's announcement that he will enter the Oregon presidential preference primary next May 15 is a further unfolding of his strategy.

The New York governor is seeking support from rank-and-file Republicans to bolster his campaign, which has had rough going, and bypass GOP leaders, who have offered him little support.

Polls indicate Rockefeller has a long way to go to overcome the adverse effects of his divorce and remarriage.

An Associated Press survey of Republican county chairmen throughout the country on who they thought would be the strongest nominee, and the party's likely candidate showed Rockefeller fourth behind Sen. Barry Goldwater, Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge.

Rockefeller hopes victories in primaries will convince key Republicans that developments in his private life have not hampered his ability to win elections.

Rockefeller will run in the New Hampshire primary March 10 and the California primary, June 2. He added the Oregon primary to the official list.

Hallsville Bank Destroyed By Explosion, Fire

HALLSVILLE, Mo. (AP) — A fire and explosion early Sunday destroyed the Bank of Hallsville and an adjacent hardware store. Four spectators were injured by flying debris, one of them seriously.

Oscar Ray George, 19, of Columbia, Mo., suffered a skull fracture and cuts. He was taken to the University of Missouri Medical Center in Columbia for surgery.

Carl Toalson, 33, and Don Drane, 19, both of Hallsville, and Jerry Wade, 18, Sturgeon, Mo., were treated for minor injuries and released.

Firemen from Centralia, Columbia and Sturgeon fought the three-hour blaze. Hallsville has no fire department.

Richard Quisenberry, a bank president, estimated damage between $30,000 and $40,000. Max Woods, Columbia fire chief, attributed the explosion and fire to a gas leak in the bank attic.

Loewe's Royalties To Desert Hospital

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Composer Frederick (Fritz) Loewe has given music royalties worth an estimated $1 million to Desert Hospital.

Loewe, composer of "My Fair Lady" and many other Broadway scores, arranged to give the hospital 50 per cent of his music royalties during the life of the copyright.

"I love Palm Springs. It is my favorite place in all the world, and I wanted to do something in return for all it has meant to me," the 63-year-old Loewe said.

MOVING OUT—There's a quarrel in Kansas City over the Kansas City A's use of the Municipal Stadium. Pat Friday, general manager of the A's, shown here handing armload of uniforms up on a truck, moved the ball team out of the stadium and into a downtown building to give emphasis to his stand that he wants a better agreement.

Child Fatally Burned At St. Louis Home

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Dart Castelli Jr., age four, of suburban South St. Louis County, was fatally burned in a fire at his home Sunday.

The child's parents, Bart Sr., 33, and his mother Rosalie, 26, were admitted to an area hospital for treatment of burns on the face, hands and feet.

Police said the fire apparently was caused by a short circuit in the lights of a Christmas tree in the living room of the house. The boy is believed to have been in the living room and fled to the bedroom when the fire started. Firemen found his body in a back bedroom, where he had been trapped.

Bears Make Biggest Haul In Defeating Giants 14-10

CHICAGO (AP)—The cheer-evoking bandits of the Chicago Bears have made their biggest haul.

They made the main contribution in the Chicago Bears 14-10 victory over the New York Giants Sunday for the National Football League championship.

It was the Bears eighth, but the first for Papa Bear George Halas since 1946, when the Giants again were beaten.

In a daring, daylight caper before 45,801 fans in the deep freeze of Wrigley Field, and many others watching television, the Bears' Jesse James boys robbed big money man Y. A. Tittle blind.

Five times they stole passes from this bald, 38-year-old phenom, who crippled a knee in the second quarter but courageously returned after halftime treatment to play the rest of the game.

Two of the interceptions set up Bear touchdowns, in the first and third periods.

Two others were fished in the end zone as Tittle, the NFL's top passer this season, desperately tried to hurl long scoring bombs in the fading minutes of a tense last quarter.

Putting the final clamp on the Giants hopes were the deep interceptions by Bennie McRae as Tittle opened a siege from the Giant 36 and by Rich Petitbon as the master quarterback unleashed a shot from the Bears' 37.

But the best frisking Tittle and the Giants got was by right linebacker Larry Morris, a 230-pounder, and mountainous right end Ed O'Bradovich.

Morris, voted the game's most valuable player, heisted a Tittle flip in the first period and galloped 61 yards before running out of gas on the Giant five.

With eight seconds left before the first quarter ended, Bill Wade went over from the two on a quarterback sneak.

Bob Jencks added the extra point and the game was tied 7-7.

The Giants had scored the first time they got the ball. Wade, who played the entire game, was shaken from the ball when Dick Lynch and Sam Huff hit him. Erich Barnes recovered it for the Giants on the Bear 41.

In seven plays, New York scored on a 14-yard pitch from Tittle to Frank Gifford. Don Chandler converted.

Early in the second period, Tittle's arm zeroed in on another goalward thrust. The Giants moved 59 yards as the Bald Eagle brought up the blood pressure of 68-year-old Halas with a 36-yard aerial to Aaron Thomas.

But the Bears' defense, the best in the league matched against the No. 1 offense in this showdown, held.

Chandler eventually booted a 13-yard field goal and the Giants clung to a 10-7 edge.

With eight minutes remaining, Tittle slipped going back to pass and was hit by the charging Morris. He limped from the field and Glynn Griffing replaced him.

The Giants quelled Wade's passing attack and held the 10-7 lead at halftime.

Tittle returned at the start of the second half. The Giants seemed to be on the move again, as Hugh McElhenney ran back the kickoff 47 yards.

But Dave Whitsett picked off Tittle's pass near the Bear 25 and from there the Bears drove 59 yards.

Eating up 53 of the yards were two tosses from Wade to Joe Marconi, then Wade's touchdown aerial attempts failed three times from the 21 and Roger LeClerc's field goal try from the 28 was wide.

With 2:12 left in the quarter, Tittle's screen pass was hugged in by the 255-pound O'Bradovich, who rammed 10 yards to the Giant 14. Wade speared Mike Ditka for 12 yards and eventually sneaked inches for the decisive TD. Jencks again added the point.

The Bears appeared ready to score again early in the fourth quarter after Pettibon recovered Joe Morrison's fumble on the Bear 49. But the Bears could penetrate only to the 25 and LeClerc's field goal try from the 34 again was wide.

It was then that Tittle twice herded the Giants on frantic drives that ended with interceptions by McRae and Pettibon.

The triumph generally was considered an extremely popular one because of Halas, who pioneered the NFL and went 71 in the red in the 1921 season when his team won its first championship.

Only two years ago there was some cry from critics that owner Halas fire Coach Halas. In fact, he was hanged in effigy outside Wrigley Field as the season ended.

Complete Plans for Annual Men's Bowling Tournament

Plans have been completed by the board of directors of the Sedalia Men's Bowling Association for their 16th annual city tournament which will be held at Broadway Lanes beginning Feb. 8. The team events will be held on Feb. 8, 9, 15 and 16. The singles and doubles will be on Feb. 16, 22 and 23. Bowlers will use their highest league average of 21 games or more as of Dec. 31, 1963. Bowlers not having 21 games in league play by Dec. 31 will have until the starting date of the tournament to establish a 21 game average.

Entry fees will again be $3.25 per man per event with $1 entry fee in the all-events, which is optional. The prize fee will be returned 100 per cent with a ratio of at least one out of ten entries. The tournament, with the exception of the all-events, which is scratch, will be on a 66 2-3 per cent handicap from 200 basis.

An added feature to the prize list this year will be $25 added squad prizes to both the 3:30 p.m. squads of Feb. 8 and 15. Total prize money in last year's tournament amounted to $2,054.40. Entry blanks are now available from the City Association secretary as well as both bowling establishments.

Bowlers in this year's tourney will be competing for an estimated prize fund of over $2,000 as well as trophies valued at $175. Besides the many cash prizes, trophies will be awarded to the sponsor for the winning team as well as the five individual members. Trophies will also be given to the members of the second and third place teams. Also receiving trophies will be the champions in the singles, doubles and all-events.

This tournament is sanctioned by the American Bowling Congress and ABC championship chevrons will be awarded all winners.

Texas, Navy Ready to Battle For Unofficial Grid Title

With Texas and Navy ready to battle for college football's unofficial championship, the bustling bowl season reaches its peak this week as fans get the chance to put aside their annual hangovers temporarily in favor of the big four post-season clashes.

The Cotton Bowl has by far the biggest and most interesting attraction for New Year's Day, but it still must share the spotlight with the Rose, Orange and Sugar contests. Four other bowls help conclude the college season this week.

East's best to remain first in the minds of the nation's fans. Illinois faces a relatively weak West Coast representative, Washington, in the Rose Bowl. Big Eight champion Nebraska meets Auburn in the Orange and Mississippi battles Alabama in a neighborhood get together in the Sugar Bowl.

In a prelude to the big day, Southern Methodist, lone conqueror of Navy, plays Oregon in the Sun Bowl on Tuesday. Finally, three all-star contests—the Senior, the Hula and the South-west Challenge bowls—round out the schedule Saturday.

North Carolina supplied the biggest surprise last Saturday while the Shrine game in San Francisco provided a picture of utter frustration.

The Tar Heels, considered just a slight favorite, easily trampled Air Force at Jacksonville, Fla. Powerful halfback Ken Willard and quarterback Junior Edge and Gary Black sparked the North Carolina offense while the defense stymied Falcon quarterback Terry Isaacson.

Oklahoma State takes an 8-2 season record into the finals. Missouri stands 5-3. Kansas State's six-time tourney champions will have a 16-year hex on Henry Iba's Oklahoma State teams going for them in the finals of the Big Eight pre-season basketball tournament tonight.

Iba's teams have beaten K-State only once in 17 seasons. Besides the jinx, K-State has an edge in height and depth and rules a slight favorite. The Wildcats beat Missouri 84-67 in the semifinals Saturday night. Iba's team stopped Kansas 65-56 before a sellout crowd of 10,500.

Kansas faces Missouri for third place in the first game tonight.

Oklahoma State's only victory over Kansas State during Iba's 30-year career came at Stillwater in 1962 and cost the Wildcats the league championship. Three K-State victories over Iba were in NCAA play.

The Wildcats belted the Cowboys in a 1948 NCAA fifth district playoff, beat them badly in the 1951 western finals and scored a 12-point victory for the regional championship in 1958.

The two rivals met four times in league tourney play, once in the 1947 finals when OSU was the guest team, and K-State won all four.

Seven-foot Roger Suttner and 6-foot-6 Willie Murrell played well in the Missouri victory which gave Tex Winter's team a 7-3 record. So did backliners Sammy Robinson and Max Moss. Murrell and Missouri's 6-7 Ray Bob Carey led the scoring with 27 each. Suttner blocked several shots and helped K-State dominate the backboards.

Jim King, a talented 6-foot-6 pivot, led the scoring with 19 points for Oklahoma State, was the game's best rebounder and held Steve Renko, Kansas' No. 2 scorer, to four points. George Unseld had 15 points and Al Correll 13 for Kansas. The victory gave Iba a 9-8 lead in his rivalry with Dick Harp, Jayhawk coach.

Iba ordered OSU into its famed delay game with 7:32 left and a 49-44 lead. The Cowboys shot only from pointblank range down the stretch. Winter had a different, but equally effective method. He put K-State into a zone defense with 9:20 left and K-State leading 65-56.

Black Hawks' Tail Feathers Are Dragging

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Black Hawks' tailfeathers were dragging a week ago but, thanks to Glenn Hall's hex on Toronto, the Hawks are winging again toward their first National Hockey League title.

Chicago's goalie star shut out the defending champion Leafs for the fourth time this season Sunday 2-0 as the Hawks hit the 1963-64 midway mark with a five-point lead over second place Montreal.

The Canadiens kept pace with a 6-2 romp over New York in a game marked by two full-scale brawls and Detroit boosted its playoff hopes by edging Boston 2-1 as Gordie Howe registered his 600th NHL career goal.

Kenny Wharram scored both Chicago goals, his 19th and 20th of the year, and Hall made them stand up as the Hawks won their 20th game in 35 starts.

Stan Mikita assisted on each of Wharram's goals and kept a piece of the NHL scoring lead with 48 points.

The co-leader, Montreal's Jean Beliveau, picked up a goal and an assist in the Canadiens-Rangers brawl. Henri Richard and Bobby Rousseau each scored twice and ex-Ranger Dave Balon completed the rout before fists began to fly.

Cage Tournaments In Holiday Run

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Coach Adolph Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats, gunning for the No. 1 spot in the nation, take that quest, an unbeaten record and the favorites' role into the Sugar Bowl tournament tonight as the vast run of holiday college basketball tournaments continues.

The Wildcats are matched with New Orleans Loyola while No. 8 Duke plays Auburn in the first round of the New Orleans tournament. Davidson, No. 7, plays Penn in the first round of the Charlotte, N.C., Holiday, also opening up.

In addition, finals are scheduled in four other major tournaments: the Far West Classic at Portland, Ore., the ECAC Holiday Festival in New York's Madison Square Garden, the Big Eight at Kansas City and the Quaker City in Philadelphia and the Sun Carnival in El Paso, Tex.

Kentucky was ranked second to Chicago Loyola in last week's poll and is prime candidate to succeed the Ramblers in the weekly balloting now being conducted.

The Wildcats played only once last week, romping over Notre Dame 101-81 Saturday while Chicago Loyola was the victim of the season's biggest upset. Third-ranked Michigan and No. 10 New York University also took their licks in the Los Angeles Classic.

Loyola, the defending national champion, was stunned by unheralded Georgetown 69-58 in the first round of the Quaker City Tournament at Philadelphia. The Ramblers bounced back for an 88-82 decision over Northwestern, but the loss probably will be reflected in the weekly standings.

Michigan knocked off NYU 83-74 in the first round of the Los Angeles tourney, fell before eventual champion UCLA 98-80, then whipped Pitt 95-80. NYU rebounded from the Michigan loss for victories over Yale, 96-82, and Southern California, 70-69.

UCLA, No. 4, took the Los Angeles tourney title with an 83-79 triumph over Illinois, pulling away in the last three minutes for its eighth straight victory.

Fifth-ranked Cincinnati, No. 6 Vanderbilt and No. 9 Oregon State got through the week unbeaten. Davidson and Duke did not play.

Cincinnati opened Missouri Valley Conference play with a 54-52 edge over Tulsa after trimming Kansas State 72-70. Vanderbilt beat Memphis State 85-79 and South Carolina 116-78, stretching its winning string to 14 and taking the title in its own invitational.

Oregon State, which plays Brigham Young in the finals of the Far West Classic tonight, scored two tourney victories, taking Louisiana State 87-57 and Colorado State 53-51.

BYU reached the finals on the strength of an 80-70 decision over Oregon.

Other major finals pit Villanova and Minnesota in the New York Festival, Oklahoma State and Kansas State in the Big Eight, LaSalle, and St. Bonaventure in the Quaker City and Denver and Texas Western in the Sun Carnival.

Villanova made it in with an 82-75 edge over previously unbeaten Utah while Minnesota outlasted St. Joseph's, Pa., 69-63. In the Quaker City semis, LaSalle bombed Georgetown, D.C., 80-69 and St. Bonaventure edged Drake 64-62. Oklahoma State beat Kansas 65-56 and Kansas State romped over Missouri 84-67 in the Big Eight semifinals.

In addition to UCLA and Vanderbilt, others gaining major titles Saturday included Wichita, Wisconsin, Arizona, DePaul, Penn State, Syracuse, Tennessee, San Jose State and The Citadel.

Wichita blasted Oklahoma City 80-47 in the All-College at Oklahoma City, unbeaten DePaul whipped Xavier of Ohio 86-80 in the Queen City at Buffalo, N.Y., Wisconsin routed Georgia Tech 104-64 in the Milwaukee Classic, Syracuse outlasted Miami, Fla. 86-85 in overtime in the Hurricane Classic at Miami. Arizona topped Evansville 78-61 in the Evansville, Ind., Classic, Tennessee beat Centenary 70-63 for the Gulf South title, The Citadel edged Furman 42-41 in the Poinsetta Classic, San Jose got by Santa Clara 56-55 in the WCCAC at San Francisco, and Penn State won the Motor City in Detroit, beating Detroit 88-83.

Tongue Lash Illini Before Bowl Game

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Coach Pete Elliott gave his Big Ten champion Illinois football team a tongue lashing with time running out before its New Year's Day Rose Bowl game with Washington's Huskies.

The verbal fireworks came during a Sunday drill in which Elliott said he thought the Illini performed "sort of dead and listless."

For about six minutes, Pete peppered his players with a sharp criticism of what he said struck him as a nonchalant attitude toward preparation for the Rose Bowl game.

During his blast off, Elliott suggested pointedly that any player not ready for an all-out effort New Year's Day should stay in his hotel room.

Elliott's outburst appeared to most observers to be mainly a psychological jab to keep his Illini from viewing Washington—owning a lackluster 6-4 season record—as a soft Rose Bowl touch.

Pete told writers he was keenly aware of the Huskies' giant-killer talent in Rose Bowl competition.

Elliott was referring to the upset triumphs scored by Jim Owens' Huskies in the 1960 Rose Bowl game over Wisconsin and in the 1961 game over national champion Minnesota.

Much has been made of the play of All-America center Dick Butkus in the Illini parade to a 7-1-1 record and No. 3 ranking in the final Associated Press poll.

Elliott scoffed at Illinois' seven-point favoritism to score the school's third victory in as many starts since Ray Eliot's Illini launched the current Big Ten-Big Six Rose Bowl feud in 1947.

In that series opener, "unwanted" Illinois trumped UCLA 45-14. In the 1952 game, Eliot's Illini belted Stanford 40-7. Elliott, whose California Bears bowed to Iowa's Hawkeyes 38-12 in the 1959 Rose Bowl game, seems most impressed with quarterback Bill Douglas as chief Washington menace to his Illini.

On defense, Elliott said, the Huskies have "real speed and quickness."

Cincy Lead In Valley In Danger

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cincinnati's six-year domination of Missouri Valley basketball is in danger although the fifth-ranked Bearcats are rolling along with a 7-1 record after edging Tulsa 54-52 at Cincy in their Valley opener.

Wichita, 9-3, which crushed Oklahoma City 80-47 for the championship of the 28th annual All-College tournament in Oklahoma City Saturday night, poses immediate threat to Cincy's dominance. Another threat, St. Louis, edged Bradley 80-79 at Peoria in the Valley opener for the Bills.

It was the fourth straight victory for Coach John Bennington's club, now 6-3. Drake, 5-2, was nicked 64-62 by St. Bonaventure in the semifinals of the Quaker City tourney at Philadelphia.

This left the Valley close to its customary 70 per cent winning average against outside teams, with 37 won, 17 lost, not including games involving Louisville, a new Valley member.

The Valley has been known as one of the nation's toughest leagues every year, but hasn't been able to dislodge Cincy. The Bearcats won 161 and lost only 16, best in the nation, in their six-year Valley span, and just missed a third straight NCAA crown last year.

Wichita's veteran club led by 6-foot-7 Dave Stallworth has the best chance to dethrone Cincy. Stallworth hit 92 points in the three All-College tourney games and was named most valuable player.

Boston Patriots Wrap Up Eastern Division Crown

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The Boston Patriots, convincing on an icy-field or in a well-heated conference room, have wrapped up the American Football League's Eastern Division title and the question of Ron Burton status for the championship game at San Diego next Sunday.

The Patriots' ability to contend with the slippery conditions on the snow-covered turf of War Memorial Stadium were one of the major factors in their 26-8 victory over the Buffalo Bills Saturday for the Eastern title in the first playoff in the history of the AFL.

And the Patriots' ability to contend with the legalistic language in the league's constitution and by-laws may be one of the major factors in their showdown struggle with the Western Division champion San Diego Chargers for the AFL championship.

The Pats dissected the AFL's laws for the second time in a week Sunday — and again received the news they anticipated: Burton can play.

AFL Commissioner Joe Foss over-ruled a Buffalo protest on the playoff game, and Sunday night Assistant Commissioner Milt Woodard said, "There may have been some question about Burton's status for the playoff, but our rules definitely clear him for the championship."

For a player who participated in only 11 plays, Burton created quite a controversy before the Patriots-Bills playoff. He also created quite a stir with those 11 plays, gaining key yardage and proving an effective decoy at other times.

Burton had been sidelined since last August because of a slipped disc that required surgery. When Boston moved to reactivate him, Buffalo President Ralph Wilson protested the move was in violation of the AFL constitution.

So did Boston, with Babe Parilli connecting with Larry Garrison for touchdown passes of 59 and 17 yards and Gino Cappelletti kicking four field goals, and both extra points. Buffalo's only touchdown came on a 93-yard pass play from Daryle Lamonica to Elbert Dubenion late in the third quarter.

Garrison, meanwhile, grabbed individual honors in rushing and pass receiving. He gained 44 yards in 19 carries—by contrast Buffalo's highly regarded Cookie Gilchrist managed only seven yards in eight carries on the icy field—and grabbed four passes for 120 yards and the two TDs.

Earhart Search Wins Support Of an Officer

WEST HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Thomas E. Devine's search for the remains of Amelia Earhart now has the support of a high ranking U. S. military officer, Devine said Sunday.

The West Haven photographer, recently returned from two weeks on Saipan, claims the U. S. has covered up the story of the fate of the famed aviatrix.

Miss Earhart and her navigator, Frederick Noonan, disappeared near Howland Island in 1937.

Devine saw an airplane in a hangar on Saipan in 1945 which he says was Miss Earhart's lost craft. It was destroyed, he said, by government personnel.

He was shown two graves by a native woman who said they contained a white man and a white woman who "came down from the sky." He is convinced that Miss Earhart and Noonan were buried there.

Devine doesn't know why the government should try to prevent disclosure of all the facts about Miss Earhart's disappearance. But he believes the order to destroy the plane he saw "came from the top in Washington."

Devine declined to name the officer who is now personally interested in the case.

Devine's story was first reported in the New York Times.
